since commencement present you the 12 plates of the collection of [illegible] S. Bushnell and during the sale we availed ourselves of the opportunity of sending you a copy by Mr L. G. Parmelee who we expect has delivered it long since, pardon the lateness of this letter, but we have been so closely occupied as to have but few moments for ourselves.

Much has been erroneously made out of our statement that our work would "be a sequel to many of the pieces belonging to an unknown owner mentioned in your work". we did not and do not state nor mean it to be a sequel to your splendid production but merely as stated, that it would be a sequel to the ownership of many rarities whose names you did not know or mention.

S. S. Crosby Esq.
Dear Sir.

It has always (since commencing the Catalogue) been our desire to present you with a copy of the Catalogue with the 12 plates of the collection of the late Charles S. Bushnell and during the sale we availed ourselves of the opportunity of sending you a copy by Mr L. G. Parmelee who we expect has delivered it long since, pardon the lateness of this letter, but we have been so closely occupied as to have but few moments for ourselves.

Much has been erroneously made out of our statement that our work would "be a sequel to many of the pieces belonging to an unknown owner mentioned in your work". we did not and do not state nor mean it to be a sequel to your splendid production but merely as stated, that it would be a sequel to the ownership of many rarities whose names you did not know or mention.
